Independent work of students (IWS) – educational, methodological and research activities of students, performed by them independently in extracurricular time, according to the curriculum of the discipline. The IWS not only helps to assimilate educational material, but also in General contributes to the formation of experience in educational, creative and research activities. To perform the IWS, both the recommended course literature and sources are used, as well as those found independently. The IWS is delivered strictly on schedule. In case of valid circumstances (if there is documentary evidence), the IWS may be accepted outside of the schedule.
