The biological and cytotoxic activity of fusicoccin / Azat S., Mansurov Z.A., Whitby R.L.D. – Almaty: Qazaq University, 2018. – 132 p.

ISBN 978-601-04-3834-7

This monograph contains theoretical and experimental results for the preparation of fusicoccin, as well as the main areas of its application and use.

The monograph is designed for a wide range of specialists in the field of chemistry, nanotechnology, agrochemistry and technology of production and processing of agricultural products, as well as students, undergraduates and Ph.D. doctoral students of relevant specialties.

CONTENTS

LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS	-----
ILLUSTRATIONS	-----
PREFACE	-----
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	-----
INTRODUCTION	-----
1. FUSICOCCIN, PROPERTIES AND APPLICATION	-----
1.1. The properties of fusicoccin and its application as an anticancer preparation	-----
1.2. Plants growth stimulators. Physiological activity and mechanism of action	-----
1.3. Natural small molecules and their use as an anticancer drug	-----
1.4 Fusicoccanes, an interesting group of active small molecules	-----
REFERENCES 1	-----
2. CARBON SORPTION MATERIALS	-----
2.1. Activated carbon based on raw materials	-----
2.2 Characterization of pores in carbon materials	-----
REFERENCES 2	-----
3. OBTAINING OF ACTIVATED CARBONS BASED ON VEGETABLE RAW MATERIALS AND RESEARCH METHODS	-----
3.1. Activation process of raw materials	-----
3.1.1. Physical activation of raw materials	-----
3.1.2. Chemical activation	-----
3.2. Methods of studying the physicochemical properties	-----
3.2.1. Fourier – IR spectroscopy	-----
3.2.2. Method of scanning electron microscopy	-----
3.2.3. The method of low-temperature nitrogen adsorption	-----
3.2.4. Automated mercury porosimeter	-----
3.2.5. Sorption activity of methylene blue on activated carbon	-----
3.2.6. Chromatographic separation of fusicoccin	-----
3.2.7. High performance liquid chromatography (HPLC)	-----
3.2.8. The mass spectrometric analysis method	-----
3.3. Synthesis of carbon sorbents and using for fusicoccin extraction, experimental results and their discussion	-----
