

The short summary to the manual
"Laboratory workshop on meteorology"

In the manual the organization of a complex of meteorological supervision at meteorological stations is considered. Application of technical means and methods for production of measurements is discussed; order of performance of supervision, record and processing of results of supervision.

The manual is intended for use by students meteorologists, geographers and ecologists.