– Almaty: Kazakh University, 2018. – 168 p.
ISBN 978-601-04-3320-5

The textbook covers the development of the Kazakh philosophy and deals with its historical and philosophical, as well as theoretical and methodological aspects. The authors' premise is that the goal of philosophy is the search for truth; therefore, the textbook provides rich and comprehensive material, reveals new pages of the history, and gives a complete analysis of the philosophical contribution of such great figures as Al-Farabi, Yusuf Balasaguni, Ahmed Yasawi, Mahmud Kashgari, Akhmet Iugineki, Suleiman Bakyrangani and the philosophical schools in Kazakhstan of the 19th-20th centuries. The main argument of the authors is that the goal of learning is not satisfaction of intellectual curiosity, but desire for an enlightened life.

The authors made their textbook meet the current requirements. It is aimed at universities undergraduate and graduate students as well as non-specialist readers interested in the Kazakh philosophy.
