“Some problems in teaching of Kazakh language”

Learning a language is a very difficult and demanding job for everyone. And the goal is to train a student how to speak, write, read and express their thoughts. First the student learns the words individually, then of small phrases and sentences. When drawing up proposals to be considered and to build up the relationship of each word in order. Learning the Kazakh language as well as all use different methods and clarity. This may be paper posters, videos, audio, projectors and board. The teacher should explain, demonstrate, validate knowledge in every day life.
